A New Partnership with the Tri-Lateral Security Conference Program will bring superior conferences to a new audience

December 7, 2009 (Markham, Ontario) – The Canadian Security Association (CANASA) announced today the addition of Security Canada Alberta to their suite of security industry trade shows. Security Canada Alberta will also see a new partnership with the Tri-Lateral Security Conference Program, which is known for the quality and excellence of its conference program.

Security Canada Alberta will not only have the extraordinary exposition that only Security Canada can deliver, it will incorporate the Tri-Lateral Security Conference program which is designed to provide a unique opportunity to learn from world class experts on a broad number of overlapping topics. Security Canada Alberta will bring together delegates in the fields of logical security, physical security, security management, privacy, law enforcement and intelligence groups.

"We are very excited to announce the new partnership with the Tri-Lateral Security Conference. They have run their conference for several years with a top notch conference program and a small trade show," says JF Champagne, Executive Director of the Canadian Security Association.

"This partnership will allow us to leverage the strengths from each other which will result in an amazing show and conference program," continues Champagne.

Glen Kitteringham, M.Sc., CPP of the Calgary/Southern Alberta Chapter of ASIS International and Co-Chair of the Tri-Lateral Conference Group agrees, "The success of the past four Tri-Lateral conferences has been so exciting and now this opportunity to partner with CANASA expands our scope onto the national and international stage. With CANASA's expertise in presenting quality trade shows and the Tri-Lateral's experience in attracting world-class speakers, this event will no doubt be one of Canada's best security events next year."
